The Bottom Line

Continuing the Mandate

KENNETH W. HAGIN | President, Kenneth Hagin Ministries

When you attended RHEMA, you didn't just come to a school—you obeyed God! Not only that, but you became part of the RHEMA family and part of a faith message that continues to expand and multiply around the world today.

In 1950 in Sherman, Texas, the Lord spoke to my dad, Kenneth E. Hagin, and gave him a mandate to “Go teach My people faith.” More than 20 years later, Dad spoke by the Spirit of the Lord at Campmeeting 1973 that we were going to start a Bible school. He didn't even know he'd said it! We had to play the tape back to him after the meeting. But as soon as he said it, Lynette and I knew that's why we had moved from Texas to Oklahoma to work for this ministry.

Putting It Together

After Campmeeting that year, I sat with my dad as we interviewed many people to be the head of RHEMA Bible Training Center. No one seemed right, and I never told him that I thought I was the one God had called. It wasn't until January or February of 1974 that he came to me and said, “You're supposed to do the school.”

I asked him, “What do you want it to be like?” and he said, “I don't know. You went to Bible school, I didn't.” That's all the instruction he gave me for putting this training center together—EVER! Even when we asked him later if it was going in the direction he wanted, he never said another thing about it.

So I prayed, “Alright Lord, this job has been dropped on me.” And I sat down at a makeshift desk with a yellow pad, my college handbook, and a Bible, and I started on the curriculum for the first school year.

At that time, there was no Bible school like this in the world. There was no example to follow, no prototype. I had to put it together the way the Holy Spirit wanted it, because we weren't going to teach English, history, American literature, or poetry. We were going to teach the practical issues of the ministry and the Bible.

That first year we didn't even advertise. But the Lord said to open, so we did. And 72 people showed up. Many of them told us they were just praying and the Spirit of God said to them, “RHEMA.” They didn't even know what a RHEMA was! But God led them, and He continues to lead people here.

When RHEMA Bible Training Center started that fall, we thought if we could just train 50 people a year, it would help get the message of faith out. But now, 35 years later, there are more than 26,000 graduates from RBTC USA alone! We also have schools all over the world, and graduates from those schools—along with our USA graduates—are ministering those every continent of the earth. The sun never sets on a RHEMA graduate preaching the word of faith.

You Are Part of Something Great

The divine mandate to “Go teach My people faith” is stronger than it's ever been. RHEMA's influence is changing lives around the world, and YOU are a part of the RHEMA family. Your spiritual heritage of faith is alive and well in the earth, and is continuing to expand exponentially.

My dad took the power of God to his generation from the time he was 16 until he was almost 87. I believe we're in a new season and that this is our time! So let's pick it up! Let's get up and let's get on with it. Let's rise up and realize this is our season to take the power of God to our generation as never before! The best is yet to come.

Fulfilling the vision,

The Mandate Continues . . .

*As in the past, so in the present.
God has been calling people to attend RHEMA . . .
and they're still being called today.*

When God told Kenneth E. Hagin in May of 1950 to “Go teach My people faith,” little did Brother Hagin know the scope of obeying that directive.

Throughout the 50s and 60s, as Brother Hagin traveled and preached faith around the U.S., he would cry out for help, “Lord, we’ve got to get this message out, some way or other. How can we do it?” Then at the first Campmeeting in 1973, he spoke these words: “Bless God, we are going to start a Bible school!” The solution to his cry was to train others. The first year, RHEMA Bible Training Center graduated 58 people, and by the next year, almost 200 graduated.

For 35 years now, people from all walks of life have been led by God to attend RHEMA to fulfill a mandate that one man alone could not fulfill. Now with more than 26,000 U.S. graduates, RHEMA’s influence is felt around the world, and every year people are being added to the mandate God gave to Brother Hagin. Here are some of their stories from over the years, as well as today:

1970s

Wes Oakley ('76)—Just out of high school, my friend Jack Johnson had a dramatic conversion and went from being a rebellious drug addict to a guy who carried a Bible. He graduated from RHEMA in the charter class, and the change in him had a significant influence on me. I’d always felt I had a call on my life, even though I didn’t understand it. Because of Jack, I ended up coming to RHEMA and that changed the course of my life. Without the foundation of faith that I got in 1976, I don’t think I’d be in the ministry today.

(Wes and his wife, Sandy, pastor Westview Church in Hays, Kansas, the church pioneered by Jack Johnson in 1975.)

www.westviewchurch.tv

Terry Whitson ('78, '79)—I was born again and received the call of God in 1973 when I was a Marine. I’d never heard of RHEMA, but in the spring of 1977, I happened upon The Word of Faith magazine and saw a small ad about a nine-month training center. Instantly, I had the witness of the Lord that this was where my wife and I were supposed to go. We arrived that fall. Our years at RHEMA were some of the best years of our lives. There is no way to measure what we received—it’s been priceless over these 30 years of ministry.

(Terry and his wife, Debbie, are itinerant ministers based out of Kingsport, Tennessee.)

Ken Smith ('79)—God spoke to me in my early 30s and told me it was time to go into ministry full time, but I didn’t know how. One night after church at the Dairy Queen, a man came up to me weeping. He had just been filled with the Holy Spirit and said, “I was coming down off a tank today in the oil field, and God told me to tell you to ‘check on RHEMA.’” I said, “Max, what is a RHEMA?” He told me it was a Bible school in Tulsa. As I began to pray that night, God said, “Do it tomorrow.” When I called, I was told they had stopped taking applications, but through a series of supernatural events, I started that fall. It changed my life, and I thank God every day for yoking me spiritually to RHEMA.

Prophecy given by Brother Hagin

at RBTC graduation, May 1979:

What is that sound? What is that sound that I hear? It's the sound of many feet. It's the sound of beautiful feet. It's the sound of feet going forth with the Good News.

Who are these that make this sound of tramp, tramp, tramp, as they come—as they go tramping along? Who are these?

Yea, they are those chosen of the Lord, called of God, equipped by His Spirit. Yea, they are those who have been loosed from the bondage of the enemy and sent forth to set men free. They're those with the story of redemption, the story of freedom, the story of the glory of God.

Who are these who go forth ever enlarging in number and increasing in number? Who are these?

Yea, they are those who do know their God. They are those who do know His Word. They are those who know the mighty Name—the Name that's above every name, the Name of Jesus.

They're those who know how to take the Name and break the power of darkness over the lives, the mind, the bodies, the spirits of men and set them free.

Yea, they are those with the message of deliverance, the message of healing, the message of victory, the message of God.

Who are these and from whence have they come? Where are they going? Yea, they come from the very bosom of the Father—from the right hand of God.

For their Master, even the Lord Himself, as He ascended on High, gave gifts unto men. And He gave some apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers.

They come from the very Throne of God—from the right hand of authority.

Where are they going? They're going to the uttermost parts of the earth. They're going where an empty hand is reaching out for help. They're going where there is a hungry cry, hungry for the bread of this life and for the true Bread of life. He's crying out for help. They're going around the world to tell the story, to proclaim the message, to do the work that God called them to do.

1980s

Sherry (Voyles) Jones ('79, '80)—In 1978 a pastor from Tampa, Florida, preached to our youth group about faith. I knew God had a plan for my life, but I didn't know how to walk it out. This pastor told me about RHEMA, and although I'd never heard of Brother Hagin, I knew I was supposed to be at RBTC. Within weeks, I'd been accepted and flew to Tulsa. I had one suitcase and a few dollars in my purse, and the only person I knew in town picked me up at the airport. At church that night, I met a couple who invited me to stay with them until I found a job and an apartment. God supernaturally provided all of my needs. Coming to RHEMA was one of the most important decisions I ever made. My life changed for the better in every way.

(Today Sherry is in full-time itinerant ministry based in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and her children are attending RHEMA.

www.sherryjones.org)

Al and JoAnn Altman (both '81, '82)—When the Lord told us in the summer of 1978 to attend RHEMA, we had no idea what it was. We had never heard of Brother Hagin. We were a young married couple with two children. We sold our house and shipped our furniture to Tulsa, all without being accepted. We just knew it was God. When we arrived, so many supernatural things happened to get us into housing, jobs, and school. Thanks to RHEMA and the life-changing teaching we received, our lives and the lives of our children were altered forever.

(Al and JoAnn pioneered KFM Word Church in Verona, Pennsylvania, in 1986 and just celebrated the church's 23rd anniversary. Their daughter graduated from RHEMA in 1987.)

Steve Wiley ('82, '83)—Just out of college I was working as a news director at a Christian radio station, when I got two phone calls in one day—one person thought they'd committed the unpardonable sin and the other person wanted to commit suicide. I wanted to help them both but realized I didn't have enough knowledge of God's Word. I thought, I need to go to Bible school. One of our radio preachers was Brother Hagin, so I applied to RHEMA. After I was accepted, I became the drummer for the RHEMA Singers and Band and worked for the ministry for seven years. RHEMA not only changed my life, it changed the lives of my family and promoted my ministry. I am tremendously blessed from my RHEMA experience.

(Today, Dr. Wiley and his wife, Pam, pastor Praise Center Family Church in Muskogee and Tulsa, Oklahoma. He also teaches at Bacone College.)

1990s

Alicia Dossenbach ('92, '93)—I grew up Catholic in Europe, but in 1985 a protestant pastor gave me the minibook In Him by Brother Hagin. I read it and began attending a RHEMA church. Then God called me to the Philippines, but after I'd been there for a year, I realized that I needed more ministry training. I felt led to go to RBTC in the U.S. I remember the first day on campus. I felt so blessed to attend this Bible school. I am forever grateful to RHEMA.

(Alicia has served as a missionary in the Philippines.)

Shawn Knight ('93, '94)—When I was 18 and in trouble, my kindergarten teacher invited me to her church pastored by Clinton and Sarah Utterbach ('80). From the first time I walked in, I saw excellence in the way they conducted ministry, in the Word that was being taught, and in the demonstration of the Spirit. I'd never seen anything like it before. One day as I was sitting in church, God spoke and said He was calling me to ministry, and I decided to go to RHEMA. Words can't describe how it has affected me. It became a part of the fiber of my life. I wanted to aspire to that level of excellence, not just as a minister, but also as a person.

(Today Shawn and his wife, Tonya, pastor Lighthouse Christian Center in Long Island City, New York. www.lighthouseinc.org)

Pam Jones ('98, '99)—In 1997 my husband of 20 years walked out on our family and the church where we served in leadership. One Sunday after that, Oral Roberts visited our church and talked about starting a Christian network in Tulsa, Oklahoma. As soon as he said, "Tulsa," the Lord said to me, "I want you to go to Tulsa and attend RHEMA." I had heard of RHEMA but had not followed Brother Hagin's teachings directly. I applied to RHEMA, packed up 20 years of my life into a Penske truck, and drove from California to Oklahoma. It was the biggest leap of faith I had ever taken. I didn't know anyone, didn't have a job or a place to live, and I didn't even know if I had been accepted. Long story short, I was accepted, and God did supernatural miracles in finding me housing, a job, and most importantly, my calling. It was the most amazing time of my life. God is faithful!

(Pam is a schoolteacher in California and also travels throughout the U.S. and Spanish-speaking countries preaching the Word of God.)

2000s

Angel Añorga ('06, '07)—I grew up in Huancayo, Peru, which is a tiny town in the Andes mountains. My father was the pastor of our church, but when I was 15 years old, I got tired of being poor. I prayed, "Lord, I love you, but if this is all you have for me, I don't want to serve you. I'm going to leave this life." Within a week, a missionary from Jim Andrews' church in Lima (what is now RHEMA Peru) came to our church. She preached an amazing message about the authority of the believer, and after she prayed for me, she gave me Brother Hagin's book. Our entire church read that book and it changed our lives. We had revival! After I saw the picture of RHEMA on the back cover, the dream of going there was birthed in my heart. Miraculously, after I graduated from high school, I went to school in Lima, attended Pastor Andrews' church, went to his Bible school, and worked there several years. From there I went to college in the U.S. and after that to RBTC in Tulsa. Sitting under the word of faith gave me so many dreams. I have gone to graduate school and have even taught at RHEMA and ORU. God continues to do miracles!

(Angel is earning his Ph.D. tuition-free while teaching at the University of Cincinnati [Ohio] as a full-salaried professor.)

I sent for some Bible correspondence school information and received a RHEMA catalog. I was 58 years old, had a houseful of grandbabies, a husband with a career, and there was no way I could go to school. But as I held the catalog in my hands, I knew God was calling me to RHEMA. By Campmeeting 2006, we moved and I was enrolled in RHEMA. God took care of every detail. Words cannot describe the revelation that came during the next two years. My entire family's lives were changed completely. RHEMA didn't just fit in God's plan for us; it was the major link that enabled it to happen!

(Connie and her family live in Tuttle, Oklahoma, where they've started a business and serve in their church.)

Art Mills ('08, '09)—I had it in my heart to come to RHEMA since 1985. In December 2005, the Lord spoke to me that now was the time. It wasn't an audible voice, but it was a really strong "knowing." After discussing this with my wife and reviewing all of the reasons why we couldn't go, I found myself in the garage weeping. I laid out all of the reasons why we couldn't go to the Lord. The Holy Spirit said, "Don't you think I've considered that?" That's when I understood that He already had seen and provided. When the Holy Spirit says go, it's because you can go. I went and RHEMA changed my life.

(Art is currently serving in Altar Care at RBC; he and his wife both work in Tulsa).

CURRENT STUDENTS

As in the past, so in the present, God has been calling people to attend RHEMA . . . and they're still being called today.

As alumni, you're familiar with the past, but be encouraged that others are being added to your ranks every year. Let us introduce you to a couple of them:

Matt Fleming—RHEMA School of World Missions (Third Year)

I was living in the world, drinking and doing drugs, when I surrendered my heart to God. I told Him, "If you tell me what to do, I'll do it." But I still kept living for the world. One night I was at a friend's house drinking when someone told me about another friend who was going to RHEMA. When I heard the word "RHEMA," something happened in my heart. I went outside and heard an audible voice tell me, "That's what I want you to do." So I applied to RHEMA and I was denied! My pastor and the dean had talked and decided I should wait a year. So for a year I sought God, got off drugs, served faithfully in my church, and then got accepted. Now I'm in my third year."

(Matt is from Clearwater, Florida.)

Ramin Parsa—First Year

I was born and raised in a wealthy Muslim family in Iran. We lost everything after the revolution, and as a result, my father was very bitter. I passed the exam to go to university, but after a year, I was kicked out because of my family's background. I had built a future dependent upon my education, and when I lost that, I was angry and rebellious. I fell into deep depression and began to look for ways to commit suicide. One day I saw Reza Safa ('86) on TV. He said, "Jesus can change you. He is Lord, and He died for you. He can give you peace, and answer your questions."

I said, "Jesus, I don't know you. But this man says you died for my sins. If it's true, come into my life and change me." I began to weep, and then I began to speak in tongues! I went to see my mother, a devout Muslim, who had been sick for years. I laid my hands on her, even though I'd never seen it done before, and she was healed! I began talking to others about Jesus and eventually my entire family was saved. One day a man tried to kill me for witnessing, and God told me to leave the country. I fled to Turkey without a passport or money, and after working in a church there, I was accepted by the United Nations as a refugee. I came to the U.S. and eventually to Tulsa because I knew some people there. When I got to Tulsa, everyone was talking about RHEMA, and I knew I had to come. I didn't have money, but God did miracles and opened the doors, and now I'm a RHEMA student! I know God has a calling for me. It's not by accident that I'm here.

The fruit . . .

Alumni, obeying God in every conceivable role, have gone into every imaginable venue to work as vital parts of the Body of Christ.

Christian Music Darren Tyler ('90, '91, Youth)—Darren Tyler graduated from RHEMA with an emphasis in Youth Ministry. After working professionally in Christian music for several years, he pioneered Platform Management in Nashville, Tennessee. Darren works with Christian artists, building and guiding their public ministry as well as mentoring them in their personal lives. Darren has worked with Jars of Clay and Third Day and currently works with Kutless, Disciple, Stellar Kart, Chasen, and Esterlyn. In 2007 he launched a volunteer-driven organization called The Conduit. It's a group dedicated to biblically based service to the poor, marginalized, and oppressed. To date, they have received and given away over $100,000 to ministries on the front lines in Haiti, Africa, and the United States. www.platformmanagement.com

Crusades Christopher Alam ('82, Evangelists) was born into a Muslim family and received Jesus Christ in 1975. He is the founder of Dynamis World Ministries, which began preaching behind the Iron Curtain before the fall of communism. From there, the ministry spread to Asia, Africa, and Latin America, where many of his crusades see over 100,000 people in attendance. Christopher is the author of several books and has preached the Gospel in over 60 nations so far, with hundreds of churches started as a result. The ministry is based in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and has full-time crusade teams at bases in Africa and Asia. www.pentecostalfire.com

Children's Ministry Jerry Moyer ('88, '89, Youth) is the founder of The Jubilee Gang, a multimedia ministry to children and families based in Springfield, Ohio. He started his ministry in the housing projects of inner-city Ohio, asking kids to “say yes to Jesus so you can say no to drugs,” and in most projects he sees over 100 children born again when he ministers. The outreach expanded to public schools and churches, and since 1998 The Jubilee Gang has seen over 14,000 salvations. Jerry says RHEMA was essential to his success. “Going to RHEMA set me years ahead in ministry,” he says, “and it grounded me in the Word.” www.jubileegang.com

Native Americans Dave Morrison ('91, '92, Pastors) and his wife, Cathy, pastor four churches around Indian reservations near Interior, South Dakota. The churches are spread about 120 miles apart, and every week at each church the family holds services and Bible studies and conducts outreach activities. “It was laid out by the Holy Spirit,” Dave says. “We didn’t set out to be here, but it suits us.” He says he’s grateful for the training he received at RHEMA, and he adds that so many of the classes help him in the ministry today!

Mission Field Nanny Katie Austad ('02, '03, Youth; '04, Missions) spent three years in the Ukraine as a nanny for Barry ('89, '90) and Adrienne ('91, '92) Jensen's three boys. As Katie listened to the Jensens speak in her missions class, God told her she was going to work with their children. She used many RHEMA principles while in the Ukraine, such as doing things with excellence and being a person of her word. “Ministry is work, whether you’re in supportive ministry or out there on the platform,” Katie says. “The most rewarding part about being the Jensens’ nanny was that I knew I was obeying God!”

Corporate World Dawn Forrester ('94, '95, Supportive) works for Synnex Corporation, a Fortune 500 company, in Greenville, South Carolina. Reminded by her pastors, Wyatt ('78) and Debbie Brown, that Christians can be anointed for the corporate world, Dawn claimed favor at her job and thanked God for the ability to solve every problem that arose. She’s been promoted several times, and the CEO even called her to help with a merger. “Now I go all over America fixing problems in the company,” she says. “The people I deal with usually have law degrees!” Dawn, in contrast, has a high school diploma, an RBTC certificate, and the Word of God. She often remembers Doug Jones saying, “God is a rewarder.” She experiences the reality of that truth every day!

Troubled Girls Shawn Simmons-Collier ('84, '85, Missions) is the founder and president of Harvest Time Ministries, a home for troubled teenage girls in Louisville, Alabama. "RHEMA absolutely changed my life," she says. She loves to share the message of faith with the families that come through her ministry. "Most of them haven't gone to church," she says, "and even those who have say, 'We were never taught the things we've learned here!'" She says at least 10 girls so far have gone to RHEMA after leaving Harvest Time. www.harvesttimeministriesinc.org

Cowboys and Miners John ('84, '85, Pastors) and Kimberly (McFarland '84, '85, Teachers) Prewitt pastor Great Adventure Harvest Church in Spring Creek, Nevada. Located three to four hours from any major city, they reach out to the mining community and also to cowboys. The Prewitts hold services every Sunday, but they also host team roping and ranch roping events. "We have an arena on the church property," John says. "Every weekend during the summer we have events." The teaching the Prewitts received at RHEMA on how to minister has proved invaluable. "We learned to walk by faith and not by sight," he says, "and to listen to that still, small voice."

Orphanages Lana Vasquez ('99, '00, Supportive) has started two orphanages in and around Burma, Asia. The homes currently shelter 67 children, many of whom were or would have been sold into prostitution or child slavery. "The most rewarding part about working with these children is to see the healing that Jesus brings into their lives," she says. "Our mission is to rescue them and raise them up to be a mighty army for God." RHEMA was the foundation for her ministry. "I learned about faith and my authority as a believer, two main things I have used over and over as a missionary."

Armed Services Andy West ('91, '92, Youth) serves as a chaplain's assistant in the U.S. Army. He says RBTC was a great start for him, but he and his wife, Judy ('91, '92, Teachers), also served at RHEMA Bible Church for 14 years. "The spirit of excellence that was taught in the classroom was practiced in every department we volunteered in," Andy says. "We're able to bring that to where we are now." Andy currently works with a Bible study group, plays on a worship team, and coordinates parts of chapel services. The family lives in Heidelberg, Germany, where Andy is continuing school to become a chaplain.

Medicine and Ministry in Africa Jon ('92, '93, Missions) and Kimberly ('05, '06 Evangelists; '07, Missions) Slusser live in Botswana, Africa. Jon assists Pastors Matthew and Kristin Buckley ('87, '88) at Light of the World Ministries, and Kimberly works in a pediatric HIV clinic. The Slussers both went to other colleges before RBTC, but Kimberly says, "RHEMA taught me that my medical expertise means nothing without listening and being sensitive to the Holy Spirit!" She mentioned another important principle they gleaned from RHEMA: "In leading, you must be a servant."

High Schools Chris Musgrove ('84, '85, Pastors) got saved when someone gave him a minibook by Kenneth E. Hagin, and his experience ignited in him a desire to help kids find the abundant life God gave him. Today he and his wife, Terri, head Future Now ministry, based in Valdosta, Georgia. They and their team present assembly programs in public high schools and then invite kids back to an evening concert where the Gospel is preached. "The message we're sharing is, 'Having Vision,'" Chris says. "Kids today often don't have a vision for the future." The Future Now team has presented as many as 45 assemblies in a year, and they've seen nearly 11,000 salvations. www.futurenow.us

PROPHECY

Tongues and interpretation given by Rev. Hagin near the end of his message:

Recognize your time. Recognize where you're at. And I will lead you and I will guide you into places that you've never thought that you would go. Because this is the season that I want to move. This is the last hour. This is the last day! And this is your time to rise up and demonstrate Me among the people. It is your time to rise up and go forth with the power of God in demonstration. If you will take the step of faith to do it, I will be there and I will honor you, says the Lord God.

THIS IS THE SEASON!

The following has been adapted from the powerful message Kenneth W. Hagin preached on Tuesday night of Campmeeting 2009.

In the last days, everything is going to be uncertain and changing. Men's hearts will fail them (Luke 21:26). There will be perilous and dangerous times (2 Tim. 3:1). But we can also see from the Word of God that this will be a season when the Spirit of God will move in our midst! Some people don't even realize that the Charismatic Renewal is gone. This is the time of our visitation!

Positioned on the Threshold

One of the saddest commentaries in the whole Bible, I think, is in Luke chapter 19, where Jesus wept over Jerusalem because their Messiah had arrived and they "did not know the time of their visitation" (v. 44 NKJV). They didn't understand the season they were living in. They rejected the very thing they were looking for—when He came, they missed it!

I grew up in Pentecost and I've lived in it all my life, and I've heard it preached for as long as I can remember that Jesus is coming soon. But sometimes we've heard it so much, we don't realize that this is the season when He's going to come again!

How do I know that? Because of what's happening in the Middle East. All we have to do is read the Bible and we can see that the prophecies are coming to pass. The players are moving into place. Let us recognize the season! Let's stir ourselves up to realize that we're there—positioned on the threshold of the door to the end of all things!

Our Greatest Hour

Today the Holy Spirit wants to move in our midst. We can't afford to miss it. People are looking for everything in the world to fill up their churches, not recognizing the season. Paul told us about it in Second Timothy 3:5 when he talked about "having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof."

It is time for us to fall on our faces before God and understand the times and the season that we're in. This is the greatest opportunity that the tongue-talking church of the Lord Jesus Christ has had in the last 15 years! This is our greatest hour!

Let's get out of our lethargy—out of the smog of "bless me"—and let's start being a blessing. The Church has gotten to the point where it's all about "what I can get." Let's not leave out salvation, the baptism in the Holy Spirit, and preaching the Bible. Let's keep the power of God!

Contend for the Faith

Let me tell you something: we must continue to contend for the faith. We must hold up a standard. There are other groups that are Pentecostal, but this is our group.

If you've been part of RHEMA and Kenneth Hagin Ministries, then I'm calling on you to stand up and demonstrate what we say we are!

The Apostle Paul said, "I don't come to you with great oratorical ability, but with the demonstration and power of the Holy Spirit" (1 Cor. 2:4).

It is time that every one of us—in our churches and in our individual lives—begins to demonstrate the power of the Holy Spirit, because this is the season and this is the time!

Everything's going to change—let's go to the new season! Too many people want to stay in the old season. "Oh, wasn't it great?" they say. "Didn't we used to have a good time at Campmeeting when Brother Hagin was here? I sure do miss Brother Hagin." You don't miss him half as much as I do!

We all miss him. But I want to tell you something: he's gone, but the Holy Spirit isn't! And the same Holy Spirit Who was on him can be on all of us! I wish that season wasn't gone, but it is. So let's take the power of God to our generation!

My dad demonstrated the power of God from the time he was 16 until he was 86 years old. And now this is one old Texas boy who's not going to deny the power of God, even if it's not popular. Let's rise up and realize this is our season! This is our time! •

A Vibrant Connection:

ONE FAMILY'S JOURNEY OF FAITH WITH RHEMA

The Yoder Family

In 30 years, Abner Yoder has lived through many changes. He built a strong construction supply business, raised a family, and has watched his children form families of their own. He's seen the world around him change. Yet two things in his life have remained constant: RHEMA's mandate to train laborers to take the Gospel to the world and his enduring commitment to support that mandate.

Abner Yoder

A member of RHEMA's board of directors since 1979, Abner Yoder has faithfully supported RHEMA from the time he first met Kenneth E. Hagin in the mid-1970s at a Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship meeting.

"I loved Brother Hagin's ministry," Abner says, remembering those times. "It was like fresh manna from heaven. I'd never heard anything like it." After the two men became acquainted, Brother Hagin asked Abner to join RBTC's board in 1979. He has been serving ever since.

"I have always appreciated this ministry's quality—the way it does things with excellence," Abner notes. "But mostly, I love the teaching of God's Word."

Although Abner himself never attended RBTC, through his steady connection, his entire family has experienced the blessings that come through a life of faith. "Our family has benefited a lot from RHEMA," he says. "I have three children who have gone to school there. My wife, Esther, and I have learned a lot, and it has helped our business. Through Kenneth Hagin Ministries, we've learned to trust God's Word."

Abner's son Steve ('88, '89), who is also a current board of directors member, agrees. "After Dad hooked up with RHEMA, he started bringing the family out to Campmeeting," Steve says fondly. "I was young, 11 or 12 years old. Dad encouraged my siblings and me to go to the evening meetings, and I did. But I went to the morning meetings too, because I enjoyed the faith teaching so much."

Steve Yoder

As RBTC has grown over the years, its teaching has remained consistent, a fact that both father and son are thankful for.

"Over the years, RHEMA's teachings haven't changed," Abner shares. "But the school's growth has been miraculous. Pastor Kenneth and Mrs. Lynette have been excellent leaders."

Steve agrees. "My father and I see the Hagins' pureness of heart and the transparency of how they do business. That's important to us."

Both Abner and Steve visit the campus as often as they can to receive a fresh impartation from the Holy Spirit. Remaining attached to their roots in RHEMA is essential, as Steve, who works with his father, points out.

"I often tell my father that part of my management training is to go to Campmeeting, Winter Bible Seminar, and A Call to Arms," Steve says. "I know it's a key to our business success," he adds. "You need the boost that these meetings provide. I've noticed that when I don't go back to my roots at RHEMA as often, I can tell the difference."

Abner has seen the impact of a vibrant connection with RHEMA in his own life many times. "In this current economic downturn," he notes, "I haven't lost one night's sleep, because RHEMA taught me how to trust God's Word." ❖

RBTC UPDATE

RHEMA USA Is Going Español!

Beginning in September 2010, RBTC USA will open its first extension school, right on the campus in Broken Arrow.

Dean Tad Gregurich, who will also be the dean of the new school, says the idea was conceived in order to meet the spiritual needs of the growing Spanish-speaking population in the United States.

“We have an opportunity to reach another language group—right here in the U.S.—with the message of faith that God has entrusted to us for the last days,” says Tad. “The Spanish-speaking population is the largest minority in the U.S. A recent study says that the next great expansion of the Gospel will be to those who speak the Latin-based languages. So we’re very excited about this opportunity.

“Classes will be in the evenings, every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday,” he continues. “They’ll be the same classes as those taught during the day at RBTC, except there will also be a class to teach English as a second language.”

Bless unchurched teens. Our church has a food pantry ministry, and as families in the community came to us for help with food, we realized that their teenagers weren’t being ministered to. We saw the need and came up with the “Five-Day Frenzy Youth Camp” idea just to reach out to these specific unchurched youth. For five consecutive days, we took 27 teens to special events and just loved on them. We went to the beach, county parks, track and field events, an outdoor activity center, and Six Flags. We also had them help us distribute food at an apartment community. The big finale was our regular youth service on Friday evening, where a powerful message brought salvation responses from 25 of the youth that participated.

Reach children; help schools. We conducted a weekly Backyard Bible Club at a trailer park, then picked up children by bus for Sunday services. We taught the same curriculum theme at both locations, reinforcing the truths of the Word. Children were given a mini-devotional paper to take home and received prizes for returning the completed devotional the next Sunday. We also found that schools often need facilities for various functions, such as training classes. We offered our church for this purpose as a means of opening doors of communication. As a result, the school used our facilities to conduct a mentoring program and foster parent training classes.

Make your own green screen.

If your church or ministry is into doing videos, it can cost over $500 to buy a professional green screen, or to buy the special paint to make one. We took a "real" green screen down to a paint store and had them analyze the color, then had them mix it for us and we painted our own green screen. We used Lowe's Ultra Premium Valspar. The paint code is 103-3Y10 / 107-1Y19.5 / 113-Y0.5 / 114-6Y18. It cost about $20 and works perfectly. Note: Your screen needs to be lighted really well. We bought a couple of halogen construction lights for $60-$70 each and they work great.

Think outside the box. Our church meets in a local business—the Mr. Biggs Family Fun Center—on Sunday mornings and we give free one-hour passes to visitors. We also have committed to meeting the natural needs of the people of our city through an outreach program we call "Dare to Care." Our goal is to pour one million dollars into the lives of hurting people. In a matter of months, we have given over $200,000 to 16 worthy community organizations including TESSA Domestic Violence, the Salvation Army, Habitat for Humanity, the Make-a-Wish Foundation, Bethany Adoption, and several public schools. The results have been phenomenal as we've impacted over 400 families.

Honor emergency personnel and local government officials. Inspired by the dedication of police and firefighters at the September 11th tragedy in 2001, our church has chosen that day each year to honor our local officers, firefighters, judges, mayor, state representatives, sheriff's deputies, and jail officials. We provide a nice dinner and our appreciation for their service to our community. This has created an open door in the community as the people realize that our church wants to give back to our city. We have been called to minister in disaster situations and to pray at public events.

Meet needs in rural areas. We have an outreach program called Rural Ministry Network. We partner with other groups to offer DVDs of services and we plan to stream our services by Internet soon. If a small church has no youth ministry, we take our youth group and hold services to encourage them. For those who are hungry for the Word but lack teachers, we currently provide a 20-minute DVD for home group Bible study. Our mission is to fill the ministry gap from our resources wherever we find a need.

Reach out in coin laundries. We ask church members to save their quarters (or donate toward this outreach), then they go out to coin laundries on Saturday or Sunday afternoons and offer to pay for people's laundry. Even those who are shy about street witnessing find this act of kindness a comfortable way to show the love of Christ. In the three years we've been doing this, our offer has been met with varied responses, but many times with tears of gratitude. Often the Holy Spirit opens the door for further ministry, and we pray with them or help in any way we can.
